

CALL ISSUE FOR STRIKE OF BETHLEHEM STEEL CO. WORKERS

To Become Effective at Six O'clock Monday Morning, Sept. 29

Action Was Taken After President Grace's Letter Was Read Refusing Conferences

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 27.—(United Press)—A strike of the forty thousand employees of the Bethlehem Steel company was called today by the steel workers national committee. The strike is to become effective at 6 o'clock Monday morning. Action was taken after Secretary Foster had laid before the committee his letter requesting, and President Grace's letter refusing, a conference with the union representatives.

Bethlehem Workers to Strike Monday

BY FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 27.—Predictions were that the national steel workers committee would call a strike in the big plants of the Bethlehem steel companies today.

With Chairman, John Fitzpatrick back from Washington, where he testified before the Senate Committee, the national committee met to consider action upon the refusal of President Grace, of the Bethlehem company, to meet the union leaders in a conference.

Secretary Foster claimed a large per cent of the fifty thousand Bethlehem workers are organized. The strike date has been set for Monday, but the final action rests with today's conference.

Nearly every section of the country has launched a campaign to get the men to go back to work. The Pittsburgh morning papers came out with a full page ad with the heading "Go Back to Work Monday".

"Yesterday the enemy of labor was Prussianism, today it is radicalism," the advertisement declared.

Try to Secure Arbitration

Washington, Sept. 27.—The senate labor committee is continuing the investigation into the steel strike, and hearing on the employer's side of the controversy will begin Wednesday when Judge Gary, head of the U. S. Steel Corporation, will testify.

The labor side of the situation has been adequately presented by John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the committee, and Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor.

During the recess of the committee's hearings to get employers to agree to arbitration will go forward. Fitzpatrick has said an agreement to arbitration would bring the strikers back.

WESTERN BEET SUGAR TO RELIEVE SHORTAGE

Food Administration Committee Chairman Sees End of the "Rationing" by Nov. 15

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Temporary relief from the sugar shortage that has resulted in retailers limiting customers in some instances to one pound purchases, is in sight with the coming on the market of the western beet sugar crop, according to Henry A. Roapp, chairman of the food administration committee and president of the United States Sugar Manufacturers' association, which met yesterday.

"Rationing," can be eliminated by November 15, he believes. But unless the government takes some further action to control the sugar market, next year may see prices soaring to 15 or even 20 cents a pound retail. The shortage this year would be accentuated next year, he said.

While the manufacturers were in session, United States District Attorney Clyde telegraphed Attorney General Palmer, urging that he endeavor to have the sugar equalization board take charge of the 1919 sugar crop at once. A serious shortage is threatened unless some action is taken, he said, with refineries planning to export large quantities.

Mr. Roapp pointed to the world shortage caused by the war, which stopped production in the beet raising areas of Europe, as the prime cause of the present shortage.

In addition to curtailed supplies, Mr. Roapp asserted, consumption of sugar in the United States had shown a pronounced increase this year.

Last year the consumption was 76.71 pounds for each person while the consumption for the first six months of this year, to July 1, has been at the rate of 108.54 pounds to the person.

In July when the canning season was on, the rate was 129.02 pounds a person.

Dr. Era Boosts Consumption
Prohibition was believed to have increased sugar consumption, it was said.

Next year when the big Cuban crop, which dominates the whole world situation, is ready for market, it will, in the opinion of Mr. Roapp, go to the European countries already accustomed to paying high prices. The result will be that America will be forced to rely on her own inadequate domestic production. In the face of such a situation he declares sugar prices may go to heights difficult to predict.

Army and Navy Balloon Race

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—The navy balloon piloted by Lieut. Reed with Ensign J. H. Stevens, aide, has landed at Menominee, Mich., on Green Bay, according to reports received here today.

Only three of the balloons which started from here at 6 last night in the first annual army and navy distance race, were reported to have arrived at 10 A. M.

Capt. McKinley in the pilot balloon landed at Dubuque, Iowa, on a sand bar in the Mississippi river according to reports here. Lieut. Col. West, representing the army post at Omaha, landed at 9:30 today at St. Louis county, twelve miles from the starting point. The landing was without mishap although it was necessary to toss off most everything in the basket to prevent crashing into the building. The three balloons remaining had not reported at 10:30.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—With one army and one navy balloon missing the navy this afternoon lead in the first race. Lieuts. Reed and Aide, representing the navy, have landed at Menominee, Wis., 489 miles from St. Louis.

The army balloon piloted by Lieut. Colter landed at Pittsfield, Wis.

Heaviest Tax Levy Ever Made by State

State Auditor Announces State Tax Rate for 1919 as Eight and One Tenth Mills

St. Paul, Sept. 27.—(United Press)—Minnesota tax payers will be called upon next year to pay the heaviest tax levy in history.

State Auditor Preus today announced the state levy for 1919 is 8 1-10 mills. This will provide $14,176,465. The total amount to be raised next year to defray various expenses of the government is $26,940,495. This includes the amount to be raised by taxes. The balance will be paid into the treasury through various ways such as gross earnings, licenses, inheritance taxes and similar ways. The tax levy of 8 1-10 mills has never been reached before. The nearest was 6 mills in 1865 immediately after the close of the Civil War. In 1917 the tax levy was 5 8-10 mills.

Democrats Favor Majority Vote in Nominating President

Mrs. Geo. Bass of Chicago explained that she believes the women should subscribe a campaign fund of one and one-half million for protection. The women have radical contingencies but she believed they could become practical in politics having training in managing homes.

President on His Way to Washington

His Train Reaches St. Louis, Where 500 Officers Kept Everyone at a Distance

(By United Press)
St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Hurrying back to Washington the President's train reached St. Louis this morning and within an hour was on the way again.

The train slipped into St. Louis unannounced and waited on a side track on the outskirts while the train crew shifted and engines were changed. The train was late. It was scheduled to arrive at 1:38, and the President is now due to arrive in Washington at 7:20 tomorrow morning.

There was no crowd at the station to greet the train. A few stragglers watched the train maneuver when it reached the union station. Orders were given to keep it quiet. Five hundred police saw that the mandate was enforced. Persons were not allowed within one hundred feet of the President's train, Mayflower. The lights were all out and apparently all were resting except for a few newspaper men who were sending out news.

President About Same

Aboard the President's Train at Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27.—"The president's condition is about the same," Dr. Grayson announced shortly after 10 this morning. He had a fairly restful night, he said.

It was understood the president probably would remain in bed today. The president is suffering from exhaustion and is being rushed back to Washington. He was taking a nap at 9 o'clock this morning. Dr. Grayson moved into a room on the president's private car, Mayflower, and would not leave the car even to issue bulletins. They were sent out. The president's room is commodious with a double bed and his physician occupies a room just a few steps from the president's.

The president has not been seen by those on his train except his personal attendants and those closest to him. Yesterday morning he was discussed as looking utterly exhausted, "all in." Mrs. Wilson maintains a cheerful demeanor this morning in spite of the strain. Her smile was still there and is keeping up her nerve. She and her maid are the only women on the train that is being rushed back to Washington at the rate of fifty miles an hour through Indiana.

President Rested Well

Hugh Baillie aboard the President's train, Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 27.—President Wilson rested easily last night. It was understood as the train stopped here today.

Adm. Grayson, the President's physician, had not emerged from his private car however and no official statement was available here at 8:35.

Aboard the President's Train, Richmond, Ind., Sept. 27.—President Wilson was able to sit up for a little while early this afternoon. Dr. Grayson remained with him howsoever.

Crowds met the train at Richmond.

Hoover Says He Has Saved 80 to 90 Million

Will Turn That Amount Back Into the Treasury From Relief Appropriation

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—(United Press)—Herbert Hoover declared in a letter published here today that he had saved the United States between $85,000,000 and $90,000,000 from the $100,000,000 appropriated for relief purposes.

He wrote: "I plan to publish a report to congress showing exact details of the expenditures of the $100,000,000 appropriated for relief purposes and to hand over to the United States treasury between $85,000,000 and $90,000,000 of this sum." He hopes that it will be an agreeable surprise.

He said he is building a "palace" of seven rooms and a basement at the Stanford University for his future home.

$63 AN ACRE ALFALFA YIELD IN DRY FARMING

Shafer, N. D., Sept. 26.—In spite of the much advertised drought condition of the western part of North Dakota, one farmer of this locality is unconcerned over the situation.

O. W. Hagen, advocate of diversified farming, sold the produce of an alfalfa field raised without irrigation, and finds that it netted him $63 an acre, despite the fact that grasshoppers damaged the second crop at least 75 per cent. Hagen cut two crops, the first cut yielding one ton per acre and the second which was threshed, yielding a bushel and a half per acre.

Pressure Will be Brought on Senate to Ratify Immediately

L. C. MARTIN,
(Written for the United Press)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Soon after the president returns to Washington the strongest possible pressure is to be brought to bear upon the senate by administration forces in and out of congress to hasten the treaty ratification, a clashing administration senator predicted today.

This senator who will confer with President Wilson as soon as possible declared the opponents of the treaty will be told in no uncertain terms that they can not continue to disregard the demand for ratification, if they do they will be held responsible now and in the 1920 election for bringing upon the nation a crisis which may result in disaster it was stated.

Senate Will Investigate Sugar

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 27.—The senate today adopted without dispute a resolution providing for investigation of sugar. It was introduced by Senator New of Indiana and was passed directing the senate agricultural committee to conduct the investigation. The committee has been ordered to report as soon as possible to the senate on the reason for the shortage of sugar, information regarding prices and whether unjust and exorbitant profits have been made and by whom, on the prospects of relief from the shortage, and to find out whether legislation should be passed and whether the equalization board should continue.

New predicted that sugar will sell at 26c a pound next year at retail and the country will face a greater sugar famine next year than ever before.

Food Has Been Stored in London to Last Six Weeks, Other Cities Eight Weeks

London, Sept. 27.—(United Press) Great Britain today was involved in the most extensive strike in the history of the country. Stoppage of the entire railway system last night opened the first battle in Europe between government and organized labor. Both sides were highly organized and prepared for a finish fight.

With more than one half million affected by the walk-out, and all transportation paralyzed, the government's first precautions were to prepare against starvation. The food administration had prepared a secret food reserve in London that will last for six weeks. Food stored in other parts it was declared will last for eight weeks.

Motor lines in all parts of the country began operating between the seaport and food depots. The difficulty of milk distribution offered the worst program. An effort is being made to operate a few trains for this purpose, and it is believed the nation's babies will not suffer. The government had established food dictatorship endowed with unlimited power.

Sea forces have been called upon to help, the first time in history.

The strike decision followed a failure of a desperate attempt at adjusting their differences at an all day conference between Lloyd George, the Minister of Railways Geddes and the railway men.

The public had misinterpreted the negotiations that an agreement could be expected, and was prepared to meet the problem of transportation today. Old bicycles were taken out of store rooms and used. The scarcity and expense of gasoline prevented the general use of private automobiles. With none of its trains operating, Britain practically stood still today.

The war government has suspended soldiers' furloughs and stopped demobilization.

Government Forces Will Occupy Fiume

(By United Press)

Rome, Sept. 27.—Fiume is likely to be occupied by Italian government forces the Popolo Romano reported today. General Badoglio, deputy chief of staff, has issued an appeal to the soldiers stating that it is useless to go to Fiume as "nobody has dreamed of attacking the city."

His plea evidently is to prevent further members of the army from joining D'Annunzio's ranks.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE

One of Interest to Our Readers
Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Brainerd woman is confirmed after ten years.

Mrs. Amanda Erickson, 1103 E. Oak St., Brainerd, says: "I suffered with my kidneys for two or three years. A dull pain through my back and loins burdened my health and kept me in constant discomfort. "But I would like to know if you wouldn't lend me—" "And I told you beforehand I won't." "Well, then, don't! I wanted to borrow your fountain pen to make out a check for what I owe you; but if you're in no hurry, I'm not!"

His Mind in the Clouds.

Rev. George Harvey was to have been married to the daughter of Bishop Compton of London, but on the morning fixed for the ceremony forgot all about it and went off fishing. Much indignation was felt by the bride and her friends, and the engagement was broken off. But the reverend gentleman's second engagement was equally unsuccessful. Once more he forgot to come up to the church and lost his expectant bride in consequence.

Friday Evening

The reception given in honor of Rev. Arthur C. Smith and wife, the new pastor of the First Baptist church Friday evening, was attended by a large and enthusiastic crowd of its members and friends, who enjoyed the program of song and instrumental music, given by Dr. A. K. Cohen, Miss Lydia Nelson, Miss Lonetta Hayes and Will Anderson.

G. A. Beale, in behalf of the church gave to the pastor and wife a short address of welcome, and Miss Louise P. Barrett, in a few well fitted words, presented Mrs. Smith with a dozen American beauty roses from the ladies of the church and congregation. The responses from both Rev. and Mrs. Smith were delightfully received.

Rev. Smith spoke briefly of the possibilities of the work in this church and community, of the cordial reception they had received from the people of Brainerd.

The social hour following the program was very informal. The ladies served light refreshments of ices and cakes. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, ferns and flowers.

Birds Foretell Weather Change.

Swallows are unerring in their instinct. If they are flying high, then an umbrella is not an immediate necessity. But if, when they are in search of their food, they skim along at a low altitude, it is safe to predict a downfall at no great period. The long-distance flyers, such as gulls and rooks, are well worth attention. They are not only weather-wise, but wise in common sense. They never venture far from home when bad weather is brewing.

EVENING FROCKS OF TAFFETA

Charming Designs in That Material
Put Forward by Leading American Designers.

Flowered taffeta is being used in the development of evening dresses by some of the best American designers. One charming frock seen recently was made of gray taffeta splashed with pink roses. The giraffe or bodice was of cloth of silver and a small pink ostrich tip held the side drapery in place. Draped effects predominate in the development of evening frocks. Tunic and redingote frocks share honors with the more fluffy draperies, the general tendency being to show a greater width at the hips than is in evidence in daytime frocks.

Metal trappings are very much favored, and in the lineup of lovely fabrics, shown especially for evening frocks, a chiffon with gold or silver motifs is one of the novelties of the season. A gown made of one of these fabrics may have bodice or giraffe of metal cloth matching the motif on the fabric proper, a really gorgeous gown being the result.

Flowers for Home Decoration.

What could possibly be lovelier than one or two pond lilies floating in a transparent china or glass bowl? Of course you must use a leaf and bud in such a composition. Every woman that loves to decorate her home knows intuitively the arrangement of flowers that will make her home the most beautiful. Every one of us that has the slightest love for the beautiful interprets this desire in our own individual way when it comes to selecting jars to hold our posies and the placing of them filled. We must each one express our own artistic impulse in our own way and if we love our flowers we will know how to arrange them.

Lace Is Triumphant.

The lace dress is having a triumphant time at present. Gowns of chantilly, Valenciennes, white Alençon, and black and yellow Spanish lace were among those which recently scored highest in a fashion show.

Seems to Be General Opinion.

"Tell me what company you keep, and I will tell you what you are," is a proverb that is found in similar form among the French, Spanish, Italians, Dutch and others. Anything so widely accepted must be true.

PLUMES IN FAVOR

Feathered Headdresses a Prominent Mode of the Moment.

Poppy Red Ostrich Tips Becoming Arranged a Novelty Much Admired at Recent Fashionable Gathering.

Feathers are playing a very eminent part in the world of fashion. They are being worn in every conceivable way. Feathered headdresses are as elaborate as those of any Indian warrior. Some, mounted on little transparent caps, tower to great height, while others, in the form of bands, are worn low on the forehead with pendent plumes falling lower over the ears or shooting upward from the middle of the brow.

Dangling ostrich tips fall over the ears in ringlet style to complete a new headdress. At a recent evening function a young girl attracted much attention by wearing in this manner two poppy red tips attached to a tulle bandeau of the same vivid shade.

A close second for popular favor is the jet headdress, which continues to be seen at all the evening functions in Paris. The most extravagant of these have a halo of algerette surmounting a skull cap of cut jet or some such.

Birds of every species are now called upon to contribute to fans which, adding as they do to the picturesque of dress, fit in with the present movement in clothes. Spanish beauties have never considered themselves fully dressed without fans.

Two poppy red ostrich tips falling over the ears attached to a tulle band form one of the new headdresses.

To them fans have not only meant romantic bits of femininity, but have served as sunshades when strolling in their gardens.

Fans always have been popular and always will be. Although not a necessary part of dress, they live indefinitely because of their beauty and charm. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth men as well as women carried them. In those vain times small mirrors were inserted in the backs. Later, in the eighteenth century, the fan became such an important article of dress that the utmost skill of artists and jewelers was used in decorating them.

Balancing Trade.

Where one country exports extensively to another and buys nothing from it the checks and drafts given in payment do not balance and it becomes necessary to ship gold or otherwise readjust accounts. This is expensive and makes it necessary to pay a premium in exchange. This premium is virtually an addition to prices paid. When it becomes too high purchases will be made in other markets. Thus will trade be lost unless it is balanced.

Army Life for Girls! Makes 'em Younger

Betty Boyle, Swimming Instructor

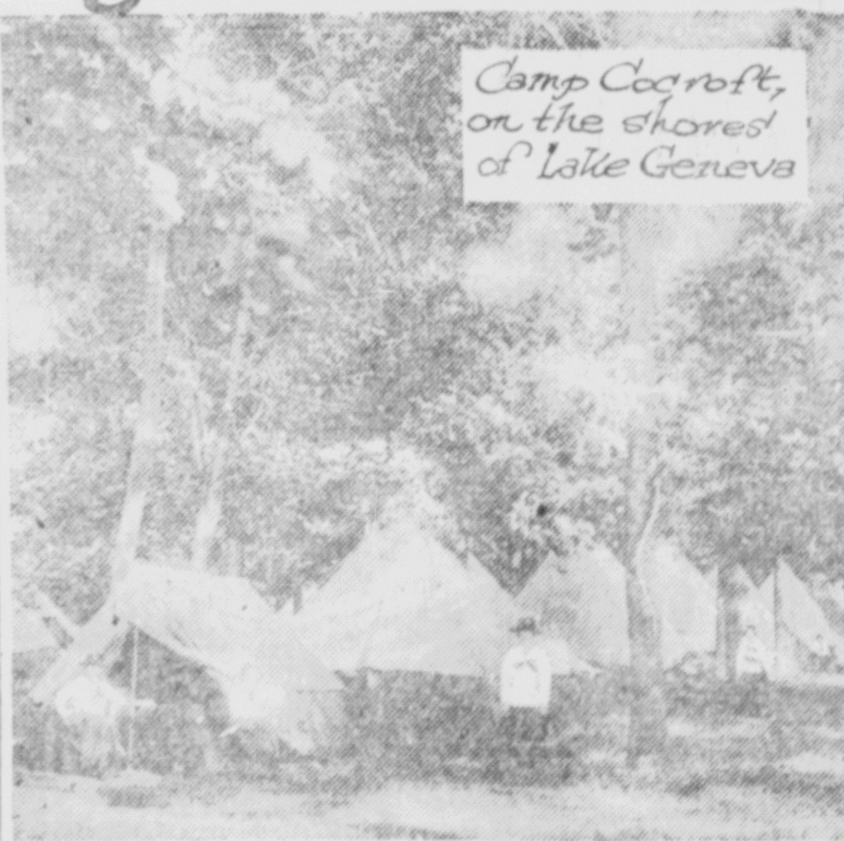

"Some day I'm going to murder the bugler,
Some day they're going to find him dead;
I'll amputate his reveille-e-e
And step upon it heavie-e-e
And spend—the rest o' my life in bed."

THESE are the strains wafted upon the air of an early summer morning—not in lusty tenors and throaty barytones, but in charming sopranos! It is the chant of one hundred healthy American nymphs as they tumble and roll out of two score army tents into the sunshine of dawn. Never potential assassins so blithe and gay in their conspiracy! Never confessed loafers so nimble! The time—6:30 of a crisp morning.

The place—The experimental camp of the United States Training Corps at Lake Geneva, Wis., set like a blue opal in green enamel.

The girls—one hundred of 'em—big girls, little girls, fat—no, breathe not the word—plump girls, slender girls, old girls—(one owns to sixty)—young girls, but none under twenty!

"Battalion! Ten-shun!" sings out a slim goddess who faces the ranks in the most professional swim-lines of girls are drilled make them look like human pinwheels and feel like world's champions in everything. "Hands on hips! High knee raising! Walk to the water! And the whole hundred, youngest to the oldest, hop off and tumble into the sparkling blue water for a five-minute dip.

Bugle again—tents—uniform! "Fall in!" is the snappy command of the dainty "lieutenants," and off they march in double quick—with little urging necessary—to "mess."

What is It All About? When war and the draft taught us that American manhood was but 66 per cent efficient, we woke from our long cherished national pipe dream of physical superiority. In the parlance of the day, "we learned a few things that made us sit up and take notice!"

What was the matter with the other 34 per cent of the young men of the nation? Well, they were plenty of "sand." Their hearts were in the right place—most of 'em—but they didn't beat the right way. So our medics patched them up where they could, and they were sent to camp. They drilled, they dug ditches, the gilded youths peeled potatoes, the bank clerks learned to cook, and erstwhile knights of the road and of the street corners were taught cleanliness and industry. They all learned to keep step and to shoot straight; they ate beans and hard tack, and the rookies that went into the hopper came out MEN—men that turned the tide of war and materially affected certain formalities recently concluded in Paris.

The government realized that in order to release its men for war, women must be found to take their places. They came at the nationwide call sent out. But it was not long before long hours, crowded quarters and the nervous tension of rush work began to tell on physiques which, like those of the men, had

Then, as a "war measure," the war department set about patching up, as best it might, this part of its war machine. Susanna Cocroft, nationally known for her work to better the health of women, was ordered to report for duty. She came, she saw, she—prescribed: "regular physical exercise in the open air." They took it in daily doses, as directed, on the White House lot.

The armistice was signed and most of the women went home. Then said a thinker: "If it is necessary in war to care for our women workers, why is it not worth-while in peace to see that the women of America—the mothers of the race—are strong, efficient, healthy, happy?"

U. S. Training Corps for Women. And so the United States Training Corps for Women was organized, with the approval, co-operation and support of national military and health officials. The camp at Lake Geneva was the first; it was con-give the authorities conclusive proof of the possibilities. The "age limit" is from twenty years up. There are grandmothers here, a mother of ten children, and a crowd of young beauties that would tempt the most law-abiding impresario or musical comedy producer to kidnapping.

They come from twenty-two states in the Union. They are home-makers, professional women, teachers, society buds and blossoms, clerks, students, industrial workers—a perfect democracy with a big "D."

Discipline of Regular Hours. The discipline of regular hours, regulated exercise, wholesome food and new ideas in turning the tired, lagging gait into a military quickstep, and the fagged brain into an effective high-powered machine. Powder puffs and lip sticks have become non-essentials.

And fun? Just ask 'em! Between mess and taps comes enough fun to make any woman know she is not old at sixty. The "tents" take turns in entertaining the battalion. With no scenery but the wood and the water, no costumes but their khaki uniforms, no "props" and no make up, each night a show is put on to which the millionaire residents of Lake Geneva beg "comps."

ties neglected. Men and women nationally recognized as authorities in their lines come and address the girls upon such subjects as "Community Sanitation"; "Household Management"; "Business Organization of the Household"; "Correct Posture"; "Personal Care"; "Home Care of the Sick"; "Social Hygiene"; "Child Welfare"; "Swimming"; "Military Drill and Setting Up Exercises."

University instructors from all over the nation, public health officials, military authorities, are in charge of these courses, which are handled regularly and systematically.

Do Women Want It?

Although the time for enrollment was barely three weeks, the lists were full long before the camp opened on August 2. Many who enrolled for two weeks begged to stay to the close. One woman of fifty-five who couldn't lace her own boots the first day now keeps step in all exercises with her partner of twenty years. A doubting Thomas of a husband who came to scoff said: "Why, Maria, you look ten years younger!"

The board of directors of the camp includes: Miss Susanna Cocroft, president; Admiral Cary T. Grayson, M. D., general medical director; Dr. Arthur R. Reynolds, vice president, Blag, U. S. Health Service, Washington, D. C.; the Rt. Rev. Samuel Fallows, Chicago; Mrs. Frederick W. Upham, Chicago. Among those serving on the advisory board are: E. H. Crowder, former U. S. Provost Marshal General; General Leonard Wood; Hon. Julius Kahn, chairman, Military Affairs Committee, U. S. House of Representatives; Philander P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education, and Mrs. Robert Lansing, Washington.

Headquarters in Chicago.

The headquarters of the corps is at 624 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, where information concerning more camps is being sent out to women all over the United States. Applications for another camp for next summer practically duplicate the plan of the experimental camp. The plan of the United States Training Corps is for a great chain of camps, east, west, north and south, according to the season, which shall be operated upon this model plan. Already applications have been made for camps in Wisconsin, Illinois, North Carolina and Colorado.

19. Has not anyone a right to object to the League?

A. Yes. This is a free country. Any one has a right to any opinion he chooses.

20. Why is the League so bitterly opposed by a few?

A. Because, unfortunately, any Treaty or League must be made by the President, and a President is chosen by a political party and many members of the opposite Party think they must deny whatever he does.

WORLD TO WATCH OCTOBER MEETING

INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE CALLED BY PRESIDENT MAY DEVELOP NEW PLAN.

ALL INTERESTS ARE INVITED

Federal Peace Council, Patterned After the Council of National Defense, May Be an Outcome of the Deliberations.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—The entire world will to some extent fasten its attention on the conference which President Wilson has called to meet here on Oct. 6 for the purpose of discussing the labor situation of the country and the relationship between capital and labor. The European countries are confronted with a situation almost identical with that in the United States. Diplomatic representatives of the various European countries here say that if the October conference shall develop a new relationship between capital and labor agreeable to all concerned, that relationship would undoubtedly be accepted in Europe.

The plans for the Oct. 6 conference have been completed. First of all there will be twenty-two representatives of the public selected by President Wilson. The men who make up this list are, for the most part well known to Americans everywhere. Most conspicuous in the list proposed are Judge Elbert H. Gary, who is at the head of the United States Steel corporation; John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard; Charles G. Dawes, banker of Chicago; Charles Edward Russell of New York and John Spargo of Vermont. Russell and Spargo will speak for the conservative socialists of the country.

All Elements to Take Part. Organized labor, the farmers, the investment bankers and the chamber of commerce of the United States will be represented by a total of twenty-two delegates. Thus one-half the delegates will be chosen by the president of the United States and the other half by the organizations or interests named.

The conference was called for the purpose of establishing industrial peace while the country is passing through the period of reconstruction. What may be called the inciting cause for the conference was a determination on the part of some 500,000 shopmen employed by the railroads to strike for higher pay. Since the call for the conference went out several manifestations of industrial unrest have been temporarily disposed of by referring them to the conference. The conference will not, so it is understood, attempt to settle specific disputes between employers and employees, but will try to lay down some general principles which, if accepted by both employers and employees, will result in the maintenance of industrial peace at least through the period of reconstruction.

It is evident, say representatives of both capital and labor, that if the conference is to evolve plans "for the development of a new relationship be-between capital and labor" there must be yielding on both sides. The extremes as they will meet in the conference will be represented by men who are not willing to agree that labor shall be completely unionized and those men who say they will never agree to any plan that does not recognize the right of men to organize and deal with their employers through their organization. It is evident from the personnel of the delegates that have been chosen that President Wilson desires to have every phase of the existing situation considered. The call will bring together some of the largest employers of labor in the country, employers that deal with the unions and employer's that decline to do so. It will bring together college professors with conflicting ideas on the problem; and there will be present representatives of the farmers and of both the conservative and the radical labor movements.

Federal Peace Council Possible.

The high cost of living will receive attention. Some of the labor leaders for several months have been advocating a reduction in the cost of living rather than further increases in wages. When the federal government inaugurated its campaign against the excessive cost of living two months ago the president asked the wage workers to assist in keeping down the cost instead of demanding more pay. It is the thought of the government officials here who, in the absence of the president, are in charge of the arrangements for the conference that one outcome of the meeting shall be the creation of what might be called a federal peace council. They understand that the president has something of that sort in mind. Such an organization, if created, it is said, would be patterned after the council of national defense, which did such good service during the war.

Such a council as is proposed would, say persons who are handling the subject, take the decisions or agreements of the conference and seek to make them effective. It would in a way become the medium between employers and employees for the purpose of seeing that agreements were respected, and industrial peace maintained as far as possible.

WOULD DISTRIBUTE OUR EXPORT TRADE

GOVERNMENT PERFECTS PLANS TO DIVERT THAT OF MIDDLE WEST TO GULF PORTS.

LESSON LEARNED DURING WAR

New Rates on Goods Originating in the Mississippi Valley and Assignment of Vessels by Shipping Board Are First Steps.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—The federal government has perfected plans for diverting the export trade of the middle West from Atlantic ports to gulf ports. The carrying out of these plans, it is asserted, will in time mean a very general industrial reorganization throughout the central West. The railroad administration took the first step toward the new arrangements recently when it ordered its rate making committee to prepare export commodity and class freight rates on goods originating in the Mississippi valley and billed for export by way of New Orleans. These new rates are almost ready for submission to the director of railroads for his approval. Heretofore exporters have found it advantageous to ship to Atlantic coast ports because the railroads gave better rates to those ports. The new rates to the gulf ports are not to be any higher than the rates to Atlantic coast ports.

As a second step toward introducing the new arrangement, the United States shipping board has decided to place at the disposal of exporters all the ships that are needed to carry freight from New Orleans and from other gulf ports, as the new rates are extended to those ports. By the end of this month the American soldiers, with the exception of those that are to remain on guard in Germany for a while longer, will all be at home. A large number of ships that have been used in the transportation home of troops will be available for assignment to new trade routes, and it is proposed by the shipping board to place these ships, or as many of them as are needed, at the disposal of exporters who will send goods out by way of the gulf.

Lesson From the War.

The experience of the war demonstrated the inadvisability of trying to send the bulk of American exports originating east of the Rocky mountains through Atlantic coast ports. The movement of troops and supplies to Europe was just getting under way when the federal government discovered that it was doing business through the neck of a bottle, so to speak. The Atlantic coast ports began to be clogged and it suddenly became necessary to use in a large way all of the gulf ports. Government officials decided then and there that at the end of the war they would advocate a policy whereby export business of the country would be distributed among all the ports.

The adoption of this new policy will, it is believed by government officials, tend to stimulate the export business of the central West. These officials also believe the new policy will result in the development of the Mississippi river in a big way and will eventually require the construction of one or more new north and south railroads. The men connected with the railroad administration and the shipping board who have given the subject a good deal of attention express the view that the time has come when the Mississippi river should be made the carrier for enormous quantities of goods for export and they feel very certain it is only a question of time until the federal government will undertake the development of the river on a large scale.

Big Help for Central West.

Government officials predict that it will not be many years until the central West, commonly referred to as the Mississippi valley, will be sending products of the farm, of the mine and of the factory to every quarter of the globe and sending them by the new southern outlets. The railroad administration, as well as the shipping board, believes that the opening up of the new world trade routes connecting with gulf ports and through these ports reaching into the Mississippi river will inevitably prove of great advantage to the entire central West.

It is proposed that such imported goods as the central West may need shall also come through gulf ports to a large extent. New rail rates affecting such imports have not yet been made, but it was said at the railroad administration that in time they will be made. The port of New York now receives about 45 per cent of the nation's imports and ships out about 48 per cent of its exports.

Under the general scheme the government officials have worked out the ports of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore will take care of the country lying east of the Allegheny mountains and to a considerable extent the business originating in Pittsburgh. The ports of Newport News, Norfolk and Mobile will serve the Southeastern section of the country, and New Orleans will be the open way for the Mississippi valley.

The Southwest section of the country under the plan that has been agreed on will be served by Galveston, and the Pacific coast by San Francisco and Seattle.

MADE REAL SPORT

Bulls Not Always Easy Victims in Arena.

One Animal So Noted for Its Fighting Qualities as to Be Deemed Invaluable—Imported Texan Fulfilled Expectations.

The torador has not always been the hero of the bull ring. There was once a bull that earned the plaudits of a Spanish arena on more than one occasion by clearing it of his antagonists. Strangely enough the bull neither killed nor injured any man. But he did put to flight every torador, matador, picador, chulo or banderillero who dared to enter the ring with him; and, although the crowds came to see him slain, his conduct proved so valiant that the people demanded that his life be spared.

This bull was named Lechuzo. His first appearance in the arena was made at San Lucar. He so suddenly cleared the ring of his enemies that the people rose in admiration and demanded his reprieve, for despite his bravery, he would have been treacherously approached and put to death in accordance with the usual practice had not the people intervened.

Again at Cordoba upon the healing of the wounds inflicted upon him by the picadors at San Lucar, Lechuzo drove all his enemies before him and again his life was spared at the demand of the spectators.

So in time Lechuzo began to be regarded as invincible, and finally he ended his days in peace at the age of ten years.

Some years ago a herd of Texas bulls were imported from their native land to Seville to give special attraction to a bullfight of more than ordinary importance. Those American bulls furnished the Spaniards with some interesting sport.

The first of the intended victims when confronted in the ring by horse and picador wholly neglected the horse, but paid instant and undivided attention to the man. The bull bellowed as if from sheer delight at the anticipated encounter and attacked the picador furiously. He pressed the fighter so hard that, defense being useless, the man sought safety in inglorious flight by scaling the barrier erected between the audience and the ring as a provision of safety.

The picador was ardently and efficiently assisted over the barrier by the horns of the animal and was followed so closely that he narrowly escaped with his life by reaching a convenient gallery. The bull did his best to get at him, but, finding this impossible, looked about for other game.

The stone seats in the incline at Seville were ten feet above the ground, and this height has always been an insurmountable barrier for a bull, but this time things were different, for as soon as the Texan bull saw the throng above his head he stepped back, and the next instant he was among them.

Before the people could escape he had tossed half a dozen of them into the ring, but they were all rescued by the ring attendants. The stone seats cleared, the steer returned to the ring, and seeing no one else to whom he might throw the gaze of battle, he took the exact center of the ring and bellowed his defiance to the world. Meantime the management had got busy, and a soldier with a Mauser was summoned from a nearby barracks and the bull's life was ingloriously ended.

AMERICAN LEGION ORGANIZED HERE

Milton Mahlum Named Chairman and Dick Johnson Secretary of New Organization

NAME SELECTED LATER ON

To Bear Name of First Brainerd Man
Killed in Service—State Chairman Fuller at Meeting

State Chairman H. Fuller, of St. Paul addressed a gathering of ex-service men and other citizens of this district at Elk's hall Friday evening. Mr. Fuller gave a detailed explanation of the organization of the Legion among the ex-service men and explained at much length the things that the Legion stands for. He answered all questions and cleared up many points in regard to the policy of the Legion. He told of the coming national convention in Minneapolis and asked that the Brainerd district perfect their organization that they might be granted a charter at that time.

Chairman Fuller was followed by District Membership Chairman Vernon of Little Falls. He explained the post organization at Little Falls and also told about the state convention held in St. Paul fair week. He appealed for a strong organization in the sixth congressional district, an organization of 100% Americans.

State Treasurer J. O. Ostby of Pequot addressed the meeting explaining the organization at Pequot. He suggested an opinion from the members present whether or not they wished to form a Post. The opinion was practically unanimous among the service men present that a post be formed. Milton M. Mahlum was chosen temporary chairman and Richard (Dick) M. Johnson, secretary. The temporary organization proceeded to sign the members present and applied for a permanent charter.

The members voted that the local post bear the name of the first man in this district who was killed in action. A committee was named to investigate the records and to determine who the first man killed in action was.

The matter of dues was brought before the new post and an assessment of $1 per year agreed upon.

A membership committee was appointed by the chairman and a drive for members will soon be launched. It is hoped that all ex-service men with honorable discharges will join the local post of the Legion. There are great possibilities in the united efforts of the young men in this district and it is hoped that they will not overlook this opportunity for union among the young men.

MRS. CHESTER PALMER

Formerly Miss Phyllis Kelehan Died in Minneapolis. Funeral Sunday at Walker

Mrs. Phyllis Palmer, wife of the late Chester Palmer of Walker, died Friday at Minneapolis at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Kelehan, leaving her little daughter age 5, her mother and two sisters, Miss Ruby Kelehan and Mrs. Ed Reuben. They are all well known to Brainerd people, having lived here many years before removing to Minneapolis.

The husband died of the influenza in January. Mrs. Palmer was 32 years old and while in Brainerd taught school here and in the vicinity. The remains will be brought from Minneapolis on the midnight train and the funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Walker. Many old friends of Mrs. Kelehan will take the train tonight for Walker to attend the funeral.

YOUNGEST MANAGER IN BUSINESS LINE

Jack I. Brockman

Jack I. Brockman, age 16, son of A. Brockman, furrier of Brainerd, is believed to be the youngest business manager in the state. He has charge of the Brockman Fur Factory department in the Troppman department store in Bemidji.

Young Brockman is a graduate of the Minneapolis high school. While at school he had one of the best paying routes of the Minneapolis Journal. His father is head of the Brockman Fur Factory at Brainerd.

United States Korean Treaty.

It was in 1882 that the first treaty with Korea was signed by the United States, and foreigners took up their residence with official sanction at Chemulpo, the seaport of the capital, Seoul. Even with this foothold in the new country, the unwelcome visitors pushed their way but slowly into other parts of the kingdom, and as late as 1897 only a relatively small portion had been visited by white men.—National Geographic Magazine.

HEART BALM

Mrs. A. E. Royce of Duluth Sues John
Helmer, Mine Owner, of the Cuyuna Range

HIS WIFE GOT ALIMONY BEFORE

Helmer Located Some of the Best Paying Iron Mines Near Ironton in Early Days

John Helmer, a prominent figure on the Cuyuna iron range and who located some of the best paying mines near Iron-ton, is defendant in a $30,000 law suit brought as heart balm by a lady. The Duluth Herald states: John Helmer, 59, mining man, who two years ago figured as a principal in a bitterly contested divorce case which cost him $30,000 in alimony is now defendant in a $30,000 breach of promise suit which was filed in district court by Alice E. Royce, 39, also a divorcee, and a mother of eight children.

Mrs. Royce alleges that they are both unmarried and that on July 21 last Helmer promised to marry her. She claims that he renewed his pledge from time to time and that on July 13 he seduced her. On July 31, she alleges, he changed his mind and informed her that the deal was off.

In this, Mrs. Royce claims that she has suffered damages to the extent of $30,000 and that her feelings, affections and prospects for the future have been greatly injured. H. W. Lanners is her attorney.

Mrs. Royce was granted a divorce a year ago from her husband, Dulin M. Royce, 39, to whom she was married in Minneapolis eighteen years ago. She claimed that he deserted her three years ago. Royce was arrested for wife desertion and brought to Duluth, but the case against him later was dropped. Judge Dancer, who granted the decree, ordered Royce to pay his former wife $15 a week alimony.

Helmer's divorce case hung fire in the courts for several months and attracted considerable attention at the time it was tried during the summer of 1917. Mafy Helmer, 52, mother of his six children, brought suit against him, charging cruelty, and asked for a limited divorce. Helmer answered charging that she was the one who had been cruel and asking that he be granted an absolute divorce.

Judge Emann, before whom the Helmer divorce case was tried, decided that each was entitled to a decree of absolute divorce, and as it had been closed upon the trial that Helmer's mineral holdings were valued at $50,000, she was entitled to one third, to be more exact, $25,950.67, which was ordered paid to her as permanent alimony.

Hints on Health

Physicians in every city are reporting flu cases. The following hints will greatly assist in preventing the scourge:

Dress warmly, be sure that outer garments are thoroughly clean. An overcoat or suit that has hung in a closet all summer should be renovated.

Clean curtains and draperies thoroughly, not just a mere dusting, but either washed or dry cleaned.

Rugs should be kept clean. A carpet sweeper or broom should be used as little as possible. They only fill the air with germs. Brainerd Model Laundry. 9812

Loyalty Well Rewarded.
A Parisian with a sense of humor bequeathed 300 francs to each relative who abstained from attending his funeral. One poor relative insisted on following the deceased to the grave; and her loyalty was rewarded, for by a codicil to his will the deceased left the residue of his large fortune to those relatives who were prepared to sacrifice the 300 francs.

Widows Are Wonderful.
"I love you! I love you!" he murmured for the nineteenth time. "Speak! Answer me!"

The maiden coyly hung her head. "I—oh, John, this is so sudden!" she pleaded.

He drew her closer to him. "Don't be afraid, darling!" he said gently. "Would you like me to ask your mother first?"

With a cry of alarm she threw her arms round his neck.

"No, no!" she gasped. "Mother is a widow. I want you for myself!"

National League Champions Cincinnati Fans Betting Will Win World's Series

PAT MORAN' REDS

Pat Moran, boss of the Reds, who gave Cincinnati her first national league champion team, is being called the "Miracle Man." He took a team that was rated early in the season as lucky to land in the first division and capped a championship with it.

But the main reason advanced in crowning him with "wonder titles" is the fact that he brought about his miraculous feat with a team of cast-offs. He assembled a club from material discarded by other teams and moulded it into a consistent winner. He took a corps of pitchers who had been found wanting by other managers and developed the best staff of hurlers in the league.

Jake Daubert, Larry Kopf, Morry

Rath and Sherry Magee were on their way to the minors when Pat turned their steps to the Reds and handed them a slice of world's series coin. Slim Sallee, Walter Reuther and Ray Fisher had the N. G. tagged on them, but Moran took them and put their wings in the best working order of their career. Here are the Reds in a nutshell:

Jacob E. Daubert (first baseman) is 34 years old. He was born in Shamokin, Pa. He started his career in 1906 with the Kane semi-pros and was bought by Cleveland in 1908. He was then farmed to Nashville. In 1919 he was transferred to Toledo and was bought by Brooklyn in 1919, playing there until this spring. He has batted around .290 in fourteen seasons.

Morris Rath (second baseman) was given the test in the American League with the White Sox, but he failed to deliver the goods and went back through the minors to Salt Lake City where he was secured last year by the Reds.

William Lawrence Kopf (short stop) is 28. He was born in Bridgeport, Conn. In 1912, as captain of the Fordham college nine, he drew the attention of major league scouts. But he dabbled around for awhile in the New England league under the name of Brady. He was signed by Toledo and sent up to Cleveland. The Athletics got him on waivers. His stick work was too light and he was released to Baltimore. The Reds then nabbed him when Herzog left. His work this year has been first class.

In point of service, Henry Knight Groh (third baseman) is one of the veterans of the team. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., 30 years ago. He started out with Oshkosh in 1908 and was sold to Decatur in 1911. The Giants bought him later in the season and then let him go to Buffalo. He was recalled in 1912 and in 1913 was released to the Reds. He bats around .273 and is the best third baseman in the league.

Ivy B. Wingo (catcher) was born 29 years ago in Norcross, Ga. He jumped in the game in 1909 with Greenville in the Carolina association. He was sold to St. Louis in 1911 and was traded to the Reds in 1915 for Gonzales and Bescher.

William A. Rariden (pitcher) is 31. He was born in Bedford, Ind. and started his career in 1907 with Canton in the Central League. The Braves bought him in 1910 for $750. He jumped to the Indianapolis Reds in 1914 and then went to the Newark Reds in 1915. He was sold to the Giants in 1916 for $7,500 and was traded to Cincinnati in 1919.

Sherwood Magee (outfield) was born 35 years ago in Clarendon, Pa. He started baseball in 1903 with the Allentown semi-pros. He was signed by Little Rock in 1904, but refused to report and was sent to Philadelphia Nationals. In 1915 he was traded to the Braves. After three seasons there he was released to Cincinnati this year on waivers.

Ed J. Rousch (outfielder) was born in Oakland City, Ind., and is 26 years of age. He made his debut with Evansville in 1912. After two seasons there the White Sox bought him for $3,000. He played in eight games and was sent to Lincoln in the Western League. In 1914 he came back with the Indianapolis Reds. He was then traded to the Newark Federals and was sold to the Giants in 1916 for $7,200. The same year he was traded with McKechnie and Mathewson for Herzog and Kilflinger. With the Reds he has been the leading hitter and the best league swatter last year.

Earl A. (Greasy) Neale (outfielder) was born in Parkersburg, W. Va. He is 26 years old. He started in 1912 with Altoona in the Tri-State League. He was released to London in the Connecticut league and was drafted from there by the Cleveland Americans in 1914. He was farmed back to London and returned to Cleveland in 1915. He went from there to Dayton in the Central League and then to Saginaw. When that team disbanded, he was bought by Cincinnati in 1916. He has batted around .270 for the Reds.

Harry O. (Hod) Eller (pitcher) was born in Muncie, Ind., 25 years ago. He started in 1913 with Champaign in the Illinois-Missouri league. In 1914 he was sold to Danville in the Three-I league and pitched there two seasons. The White Sox gave him a trial in 1916, but turned him over to Moline without a chance. He jumped from Moline and joined the army on the border. He returned and was suspended. Later he was reinstated and was drafted by Cincinnati.

Jimmie Ring (pitcher) one of the sensational youngsters of 1919, was drafted from Utica in 1917. He was traded to Buffalo and was sent to Chattanooga with Reuther as part of a deal, but was recalled before the end of the season.

Ray L. Fisher (pitcher) was born 32 years ago in Middlebury, Va. He went to Hartford in the Connecticut League in 1908. In 1909 he was sold to the Yankees and pitched "in and out" ball until the Reds got him on waivers last year.

Raymond B. (Rube) Bressler (pitcher) is 25. He was born in Brookville, Pa., and started in 1913 with Harrisburg in the Tri-State league. In 1914 he was sold to the Athletics and was turned over to Atlanta in 1917. He was discharged from the army this spring and was transferred to the Reds. He played in the outfield most of this year, pitching only a few games.

Harry F. Sallee (pitcher) is 34. He was born in Higginsport, O. He became a professional in 1905 when he joined Meridian in the Cotton States League. He went to the Yankees in 1907 and was released without trial to Williamsport in the Tri-State League. St. Louis drafted him in 1908 and sold him to the Giants in 1916 for a reported price of $10,000. He failed to set the league afire and when he threatened to quit if he couldn't land with a club closer to his home, McGraw sent him to Cincinnati.

Walter Reuther (pitcher) is 28. He started in 1913 with St. Ignace College in San Francisco. The Pirates signed him and he stayed with them a month before being sent to Los Angeles. From there he was traded to Sacramento and ended up with the semi-pros in Frisco. In 1914 he was signed by Vancouver in the North-West League and from there he went to Salt Lake City in 1915. Spokane signed him in 1916 and then he went to the Cubs. Cincinnati took him when he failed in Chicago and was about to turn him down. He was traded to Chattanooga, but refused to go. He went in the army and returned to the Reds this year and became the best south-paw of the league.

* ONLY THE PRESIDENTS *

Garry Herrmann

Chairman of the national commission for sixteen years and president of the Cincinnati Reds for an equal period. August Herrmann is one of the best known men in baseball.

And he is one of the most pleased men in the game this year since his team won its first pennant under his regime. Herrmann became prominent in the National League on Aug. 9, 1902, when he became part owner of the Reds along with George B. Cox, now dead, and Max Flieschman. They bought the club from John T. Brush for $150,000. When the club was reorganized, Herrmann became president and he never relinquished the position.

Early in his career, Herrmann was a printer, still carrying a card. He then got into politics with the late boss, George B. Cox, became associated in some big business interests with him and finally branched out as a baseball magnate.

Charlie Comiskey

No more picturesque figure is prominent in baseball today than Charles Comiskey, the "Old Roman" president of the pennant winning White Sox.

He has been in baseball's spotlight for twenty-seven years as manager, owner and authority on the national game. He is the big boss now of a team that has never lost a world's series decision. Twice the White Sox have landed a pennant and as many times they have nosed out the National League entry in the big classic.

Comiskey first became prominent as manager of the Cincinnati Reds in 1892, 1893 and 1894. He was not a howling success in that capacity, the team finishing fifth, sixth and tenth respectively under his guidance. His big step came in 1900 during the fight between the National and American League. He was one of the principal factors. He helped organize the western wing of the league and later acted on the committee which met and declared a truce with the older league. When the league got under way in 1901 he became president of the Chicago club and has held that position ever since. He had the honor of heading the first American League pennant winner.

Have to Piece Out Truth.

You can draw your own conclusion from the fact that there isn't enough truth in existence to keep tongues of gossip constantly wagging.
